Theodore H.M. Prudon, PhD, FAIA, a leading expert on the preservation of modern architecture, will share his experiences managing preservation challenges in the 21st century. Prudon was educated at the University of Delft, Netherlands, and Columbia University, where he received his PhD. Prudon is the President of DOCOMOMO US, which is dedicated to the study of significant works of Modern architecture, landscape design, and urban planning around the world.

Prudon is the author of the 2008 textbook Preservation of Modern Architecture. 