The Landscape Architecture Legacy of Dan Kiley
July 11th - August 1st

PANELISTS:
Moderator: T. Kelly Wilson, Director IU Center for Art+Design
Ian Tyndall, Landscape Architect, Washington D.C.
Joe Karr, Landscape Architect, Chicago, IL
Henry Arnold, Landscape Architect, NYC
Randy Royer, Landscape Architect, Columbus IN
John Lemley, Tour Guide, Columbus, IN
Richard McCoy, Design Conservation and Management, Indianapolis, IN
Ben Weaver, Miller House Site Coordinator Kesper
Art Hopkins, Art Hopkins Design, Columbus IN
Peter Ker Walker, Peter Ker Walker Architecture and Planning

Dan Kiley Exhibition and Panel Discussion
5pm • July 11th, 2014 reception, panel discussion 6:00C - 7:30pm

WHAT: Landslide 2013: The Landscape Architecture Legacy of Dan Kiley

WHEN: July 11 through August 1, Tuesdays thru Saturdays from 1 to 5 p.m.

WHERE: Indiana University Center for Art + Design (IUCA+D), 310 Jackson St., Columbus

COST: FREE

Exhibit honoring the legacy of landscape architect Dan Kiley comes to Columbus. The traveling exhibit featuring 45 vibrant photographs of Kiley’s work is on view from July 11 through August 1, 2014.

Columbus, IN. — A traveling photo exhibition created by The Cultural Landscape Foundation in Washington, D.C., honoring Dan Kiley, one of the nation’s most important and influential landscape architects of the 20th century, will be on display July 11 through August 1 at the Indiana University Center for Art + Design (IUCA+D) in Columbus.

The exhibition, Landslide 2013: The Landscape Architecture Legacy of Dan Kiley, includes 45 newly commissioned photographs documenting the current state of 27 of some of Kiley’s most significant designs. Included are the Miller House and Garden, Hamilton Garden, Cummins Inc. Irwin Office Building (Irwin Union Bank & Trust Company), and North Christian Church. The exhibit includes the work of several noted photographers including Marion Brenner, Todd Eberle, Millicent Harvey, and Alan Ward, whose work helps tell the story of Kiley’s prolific career spanning more than half a century. He worked with equally significant architects, including Eero Saarinen, Louis Kahn and I.M. Pei to create internationally acknowledged Modernist design icons.

The exhibit is presented by Indiana Modern – an affinity group of Indiana Landmarks – in cooperation with The Cultural Landscape Foundation, Columbus Area Visitors Center and IUCA+D.

To learn more about Dan Kiley go to http://ctcf.org/sites/default/files/microsites/kiley-legacy/index.html